SCHOOL BOARD.

The Voting Power of the Chairman Limited to one Vote.

The Board of School Trustees met in the City Hall last evening, Mr. Harris, chairman, presiding, and all the members being present.

Minutes of former meeting read, amended and confirmed.

THE CHAIRMAN'S VOTE.

Before proceeding with the regular orders, Mr. Heisterman brought up the question of allowing the chairman two votes, as had been decided last meeting. He considered that it was unfair that the chairman should have two votes, and moved that the resolution be reconsidered.

Mr. Higgins agreed with the views expressed and seconded the motion. The question was accordingly reconsidered.

Mr. Higgins moved, seconded by Mr. Heisterman, that the chairman shall be entitled to one vote as a trustee, and to no other. Lost.

Mr. Higgins moved, seconded by Mr. McMicking, that the chairman be entitled to the casting vote only. On being put the vote stood three to three, and a deadlock was arrived at.

The secretary reported that he had received twenty applications for positions in the public schools.

Mr. Higgins said that he did not feel disposed to go on with any business until the right of the chairman to two votes was decided. He protested against one-third of the voting power of the Board being concentrated in one man.

The chairman said he only wanted one vote as trustee and would only exercise the casting vote when authorised to do so by resolution. A record to that effect was put upon the minutes and the matter dropped.

Mr. Higgins said it would be unfair to read the applications in public, and on motion they were referred to Committee of the whole.

REPORTS.

The Secretary reported that a successful effort had been made in collecting money to pay off the indebtedness incurred for prizes and in giving the children an excursion to Esquimalt, as follows:—Balance on hand from last year, $6 17; net proceeds from the concert, $139 75; privilege of selling on the steamer, $5; collected in subscriptions by the chairman, Mr. McMicking and the Secretary, $65 12; total receipts, $216 04. Paid for prizes, $155, paid Standard and Colonist for advertising, $10; paid C. P. N. Co., for use of steamer, $50; total expenditures, $215; leaving a balance on hand of $1 04.

Report received and ordered to be entered on the minutes.

The Secretary read the report from the Special Committee to enquiry in the various repairs necessary at the several schools.

Central School: Remodeling of steps, broken windows to be replaced, rat holes to be tinned over, stove in Mr. Dodd's room to be changed, merry-go-round repaired, water filters provided, water closets to be filled up and earth closets substituted, turnstiles placed at gates, board fence on South side to keep out cattle.

James Bay: Thistles to be cut, fence repaired, water filter supplied, windows repaired.

Johnson street school house: Box drain to be carried to ravine, closets want righting, filter required, two lots in rear should be purchased as the number of scholars is steadily increasing. A reward of $20 to be offered for information that will lead to the conviction of any person damaging school property.

Mr. Higgins suggested that shutters be put on the windows of the ward schools.

Mr. Braden thought that the windows might be covered with wire gauzing, as it would be much cheaper and quite as effective.

The Secretary said that only $200 would remain, after paying regular charges, to make repairs. A moral sentiment should be created, and the windows protected in that way. It would be better to offer a reward of $20.

The report was received and the suggestion adopted, the services of the chain gang to be utilized as much as possible to economize funds.

MOTIONS.

Mr. McMicking moved that the board arrange for an early interview with the chief officers of the educational department to consider the advisability of further educational facilities to advance pupils residing at a distance from the Central School by the admission of the third and possibly fourth readers to the ward schools, so as to provide for pupils being prepared in these for the high school. Seconded by Mr. Heisterman and carried.

The secretary moved, seconded by Mr. Heisterman, an addenda to the rules of order, that all motions be submitted in writing. Carried

Mr. Higgins moved, seconded by Mr. Heisterman, that on the occasion of the re-opening of the schools in Johnson and James Bay Wards, the trustees be present in their official capacity, in their respective wards, and the trustees of Yates street ward discharge the same duty at the central school. Carried.

The board then went into committee of the whole to consider the applications presented for positions in the public schools. The committee did not rise until near twelve, and then had not agreed on a principal for the girls' school.

YALE ITEMS.

An esteemed correspondent writes that an employee on the logging train of the C P R., named Joseph H. Wright, 28 years of age, late of Oregon, fell from the train near Gray's Landing and was killed. The body was brought to Yale and an inquest held thereon by Coroner Wise, being the first inquest held in this place on any man killed on the C. P. R. construction. The deceased was an Odd Fellow and a member of Milton Lodge, No. 61, Milton, Or.

THIS DAY'S DESPATCHES.

THE DEPARTED HERO.

A Resting Place for the Remains of the General.

Special to THE TIMES.

MOUNT MCGREGOR, July 24.—The one condition imposed by Gen. Grant, before he died, upon those who should decide the place of his burial, is the cause of delay in fixing on a spot for his sepulchre. Mayor Grace's chief clerk, Mr. Tevmer, is here, and has been in consultation with Col. Fred Grant. He has formally, [and in person for Mayor Grace urged the acceptance of a burial spot in any of the parks of New York city. There is a strong feeling in the family of General Grant, that the New York proposition is one that would have gratified the general, but the condition that Mrs. Grant might be buried beside the general is one that the Mayor's representative cannot accede to. Telegraphic communication is now going on between here and New York on that point.

The President's messenger, at 11 o'clock, had not arrived. When he does present the invitation from the Soldiers' Home it is not unlikely that the condition of Gen. Grant, relative to Mrs. Grant being buried beside him, will also then cause some delay in the pending conference with others. The invitation from the City of Springfield, Illinois, is not being seriously considered as yet.

There will be over 200 representatives of the Grand army posts from various parts of the country here to-morrow. They will camp in tents pitched on the mountain and will take their meals on the hotel verandah.

Embalming will be completed to-day. The cheeks and face, by a process made use of, have been made to assume a fullness, and deeper furrows and lines are to be filled out. The expression of the face is now one of peace and rest. On Monday the remains will be placed in a casket and relations and near friends will be permitted to view the remains.

Senor Romero is with the Grant family to-day, as are also Dr. Newman and wife. Gen. Carr paid his respects at the cottage this morning. The disposition of the cottage in which Gen. Grant died rests with Jos. W. Drexel, and the Associated press is authorized to announce that the cottage never again will be occupied by any family or person. Mr. Drexel will in due time present it to the State or national government. The house will be presented intact.

The London Press on Gen. Grant.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, July 24.—The Post says the American republic has lost one of its illustrious citizens. Gen. Grant will be remembered as the able soldier, who prevented the final severance of the great republic. It is thus that he will be known to posterity. Although not a Napoleon or a Wellington, he handled large armies and led them to victory.

The Standard says, although the death of Gen. Grant was long expected, the event is not the less to be deplored. We can only share with his mourning countrymen in the sense of the loss of one whose career was so noble and so honorable to himself and so useful to his native land. If that were possible he even rose in the popular idea when the nation saw the way he faced poverty and ruin. Simple and modest, he was never cast down by reverses, nor elated by prosperity. Never a great strategist, he knew only one course, namely, to fight. To-day from Cape Cod to the Alaskan isles the land once more resounds with the fading memories of the great civil war.

The Telegraph devotes two columns to a review of General Grant's military career. Editorially it says: Yesterday the greatest and most successful soldier that the United States had produced breathed his last. In no portion of the United States have financial disasters, marking the close of General Grant's career been regarded with more sincere sympathy and regret than in England. Beyond all others he was the best fitted to cope with the tremendous crisis which made him known, and when grave closes over all that is mortal of Ulysses Simpson Grant it will be felt that he leaves behind him no man cast in a simpler, sincerer or a more heroic mould.

Gen. Grant's Death in the South.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Dispatches from cities all over the South, and from many points on the Atlantic coast and middle states, show that General Grant's death was received with universal sorrow. This is strongly marked in the south, and all the leading papers in that portion of the country comment editorially in the warmest terms of praise of the hero of Appomattox. Comparisons and contrasts are drawn between the two great bodies who met there, one as the victor and the other as the vanquished. Nearly all the leading commercial exchanges adjourned at once, or passed resolutions of respect and decided to adjourn on the day of the funeral.

West Point Possibly Selected as the Burial Place for Gen. Grant's Remains.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Col. Fred. T. Dent, Gen. Grant's brother-in-law, who is now a resident of this city, was asked yesterday if he knew what place had been selected for the General's burial, and replied that he did not, although he had made enquiry on the subject. When at Mount McGregor recently, from remarks made then to him by members of Gen. Grant's family, he inferred that a positive selection had been made by the General, but that it was known only to himself, Mrs. Grant and Col. Fred Grant. He was inclined to think, however, that the General had not selected Washington, but probably West Point.

The New York Council and Stock Exchange.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Board of Aldermen met to-day. Mayor Grace sent in a communication to them, calling their attention officially, to the death of General Grant, and quoting his letter of yesterday to Mrs. Grant, and the answer from Colonel Frederick Grant. Appropriate resolutions were then offered. A resolution was adopted empowering the Mayor, in case of his proposition being accepted, to appoint a commission to collect a quota to be contributed by the people towards a national monument.

The Stock Exchange committee today reported appropriate resolutions, copies of which were ordered to be sent to the General's family.

Sympathetic Americans in London.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, July 24.—A number of prominent Americans will assemble to-morrow at the residence of Minister Phelps, to consult upon proper measures to be taken in view of the death of Gen. Grant, and to adopt resolutions of sympathy with the family of the dead soldier. The Legation is to be closed on the day of the funeral. Minister Phelps and Mr. White, second secretary of the Legation, had accepted invitations to a ball to be given to-night by the Prince of Wales, but owing to the death of Gen. Grant, have written letters of regret, stating they cannot attend.

Message of Condolence from Queen Victoria.

Special to THE TIMES.

MOUNT MCGREGOR, 5 p. m., July 24.—Many messages of codolence were received this morning and afternoon by the Grant family. Among them was the following:

WASHINGTON, July 24.

Her Majesty the Queen requests me to convey to yourself and family her sincere condolence on the death of Gen. Grant.
(Signed) BRITISH MINISTER.

The General to be Buried in Central Park.

Special to THE TIMES.

At 4:30 this afternoon it was finally decided to bury Gen. Grant in Central Park, New York City.

The President Desires a National Funeral for the Departed Hero.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The President is anxious, and has expressed himself by message, that there should be a national funeral, and that under the direction and care of the War Department, beginning when the remains are started from the mountain, and ending at the place of interment.

The "Grand Old Man Eloquent." Terrific Storm.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, July 24.—Owing to the failure of Mr. Gladstone's voice his throat has been examined by a throat specialist who has pronounced the affection to be obstinate catarrh of the laryux. He enjoins entire rest for the great statesman. The report alarms the Liberals, as Gladstone will be unable to take part in the approaching election campaign. Reassuring statements are circulating, however, to the effect that an improvement is certain and will perhaps be rapid.

There has been a terrific storm at Torre Cajetani, Italy, thirteen persons were killed and twenty-two injured by lightning.

The Life of the Princess Beatrice Threatened.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, July 24.—A man of short stature and between 50 and 60 years of age, was arrested in the city this morning, on the charge of making threats against the life of Princess Beatrice, whose marriage to Prince Henry of Battenberg took place yesterday. The man has been subjected to a medical examination, but the doctors are unable to decide whether he is insane or not. The charge against him will probably be made before the Police Magistrate.

British Act of Courtesy to Americans.

Special to THE TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 24.—The English government on the suggestion of Consul Fawcett has allowed the American colony here, who have no cemetery of their own, to use the British cemetery at Sentari, which was created during the Crimean war. The members of the colony express unqualified satisfaction over this act of courtesy.

News from Paris—What Bismarck Says.

Special to THE TIMES.

PARIS, July 24.—The new Chinese Ambassador to France arrived here to-day. Gower, the aeronaut, supposed to be lost, is now safe.

Gaulois says Prince Bismarck has suggested that the Zulfikar Pass be made neutral, thus solving the difficulty between England and Russia in regard to its possession.

The Afghan Boundary Question.

Special to THE TIMES.

TEHERAN, July 23.—The Russian-Afghan boundary commission, under M. Lessar, is expected to arrive at the frontier at the end of August.

It is rumored that the Shah is going to Meshed, hoping thereby to stem the tide of the Russian invasion of Persia.

Kassala Still Resisting the Rebels.

Special to THE TIMES.

CAIRO, July 24.—Mr. Chermode writes that Kassala still vigorously resists the rebels. He believes that Negus intends to render succor to the town.

Abusing England.

Special to THE TIMES.

WARSAW, July 24.—The Panslavist political societies are having placards hoisted in all large towns in Russia, containing an inflammatory address, abusing England with the object of making war agitation possible.

Money Resolutions.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, 1 p. m., July 23.—Consols opened at 99⅛ for both money and account, and are now 99⅝; 2 p. m.—Consols 99.11-10.

Valuable Mica Mines.

Yesterday Dr. Tolmie kindly favored us with excellent samples of tale, commonly known as mica, which was sent to him from the Mainland. The samples are pure and clear, free from iron taint and very flexible. Enquiries have been made of several gentlemen in this province, from time to time as to the probability of finding a good mine of this valuable mineral. Although frequently samples have been exhibited yet they have not proved to be up to the standard of purity and size which would make the article really valuable. But, if a mine were opened which would produce sheets without blemish of four inches square and upwards, there would not be any difficulty in disposing of the product at a handsome price, $2 50 to $3 00 per pound, according to size and quality, has been quoted as its commercial value. There is no doubt but this province contains much that is valuable of this mineral.

Consecration of St. James' Church.

St. James' Church will be consecrated to-morrow, 25th instant, at 11 a. m., by the Lord Bishop of the diocese. The sermon will be preached by the Rt. Rev. J. A. Paddock, D. D., Bishop of Washington Territory; and the offertory will be devoted to the church building fund. The Bishop of Washington Territory will also preach on Sunday morning at the Cathedral, and on Sunday evening at St. James' in aid of the church building fund.

Mrs. Allen Francis is reported seriously ill.

Mr. C. G. Ballentyne, of the Equitable Life Insurance Co., is now en route to Eastern Canada, having been summoned to the bedside of a dying sister.

P. O. Inspector Brown, and Marshal Dubois, of Idaho, arrived in the city yesterday, in connection with the Hibbs case.

Mr. N. Shakespeare, M. P., returned to-day from Ottawa, coming via San Francisco. Mrs. Shakespeare accompanied him from the latter city.

James Thompson, Louisville; Col. Batchelor and family, Yokohama; John Currie, San Francisco, are in the city and at the Occidental.

Thos. Hardness, Q Jeldness, Brandon; F W Ellenburg and wife, San Francisco; D S Walker, Dungeness, and Fred Anderson, New York, are stopping at the Occidental.

Mrs. Mary J. Holmes, the novelist, and her husband are among the passengers on the Queen of the Pacific, which arrived to-day. Mrs. Holmes is the author of "Lena Rivers" and other popular novels. They are booked for Tacoma.

W E Collins, Toronto; Thos Huntington, Portland; Mrs R W Mitchell, Portland; J Cohen, J F Sheard, W W Frazier, W P Johnson, Miss Pierce, Mrs Marden, B Morrison, San Francisco; C E Davis and wife, Oakland; B J Sieberlich, Philadelphia; Col Batchelor, India; Geo Anderson, Sydney, N. S. W.; Ben S Dentach, N. Y.; M H Livingston, Philadelphia; C B Bussell and wife, Washington T., are registered to-day at the Driard.

The Olympian's passenger list to-day: J Payne, C W Stafford, N F Murphy, E Teall, M W Willis, W E Collins, A Hill, T Harkness, Mrs King, T Kowen, Mrs R Ward, G Chein, J Thompson, R Graham, C Butler, T Huntington, W White and wife, Mrs Bell, Mrs Mitchell, A Gilmers, E G Prior and wife, L Murray, G McIlse, Mrs Fusol, J J Byrne, Mrs P Z Holmes, Bishop Paddock, A Bell and wife, C Webb and wife, Mrs Belgeon, Mrs Kreucer, A W Jones, 5 Chinese and 1 Indian.

Northern Pacific Railway Officials Visit Victoria.

Mr. Chas. S. Fee, the general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railway, with head quarters at St. Paul; Mr. A. D. Charlton, the western passenger agent of the same line, and Mr. J. J. Byrne, of the O. R. & N. Co., of Portland; arrived here this morning by the Olympian. Mrs. Fee accompanies her husband. The party will remain in Victoria a few days. A portion of to-day was devoted to business, after which a drive was taken around the city and its environs. They express themselves as charmed with our climate, the excellent drives and the grand scenery that everywhere meets the eye of the tourist. The gentlemen named are in years comparatively young yet thoroughly up in railroading, having graduated in capital training schools. Much of the popularity of the Northern Pacific railway is due to the urbanity of its officials, the ever present desire on the part of the management to accord its patrons every advantage in the way of transportation charges, and the determination to secure every comfort to the traveling public, and in their particular departments these gentlemen have earned a very enviable reputation in this respect. With Victorians the Northern Pacific and its allied line the O. R. & N. Co's system will always be a favorite, for it will afford the means of competition with other transcontinental lines—an advantage of immense value to Victoria from a shipping and commercial point of view. We understand that it is the determination of the N. P. R. company to quote exceptionally favorable rates to importers and exporters in this city to and from all eastern points. Such a line of policy will be received with gratitude by our merchants and others, as nothing will so much tend to build up Victoria's trade and secure her in the position of being empress of the North Pacific, as ample facilities for the transportation of her merchandise and at reasonable rates.

That Famous "Private Secretary."

"The Private Secretary," which has been a very successful play both in London and New York, was produced last evening at the Chestnut street theater. The house was crowded and very appreciative, loud bursts of laughter greeting the sallies of wit and ridiculous situations which combine to make this piece an enjoyable one. It is a translation or adaptation from a German play, and the fun is entirely free from coarseness or vulgarity. It is nothing more than a farce in three acts, although the play-bills call it a farcical comedy. Mistaken identity is the source of most of the ridiculous blunders about the unfortunate private secretary, who is the butt and laughing-stock of everybody. Mr. W. H. Gillette gave a capital rendering of the title role. The characterization has been carefully worked up, and a more pitiable and lamentable object it would be hard to conceive of. The peculiar intonation of his voice in some of his catch phrases, and effeminacy and old maidish ways caused roars of laughter. Mr. Kennedy as Mr. Cattermole, an old East Indian, acted with great spirit and made the most of a good part, and Mr. Tannehill as Douglas, his nephew, was bright and amusing. Miss Addison as Miss Ashford, a spinster, fond of spiritualism, also did very well. The piece will undoubtedly draw well here as it did in New York, for people like to go to the theatre and be amused, and as we don't have the opportunity to see a farce every time we go to the theatre, as our fathers used to, it is perhaps very well once in a while to have a whole evening of it.

The above is from the Philadelphia North American regarding the company that is to appear here Monday, July 27. Wednesday and Thursday "The Professor," Friday and Saturday "The Rajah."

Gone North.

The Barbara Boscowitz left for the North at 10 a.m. to-day, having the following passengers on board: Mrs Jessie and daughter, Rev. Dr. Sutherland, Rev Mr. Percival, Rev Mr Miller, ex-Ald J D Moore, of Toronto, J McDowell, E Stephens. The Rev. Dr. Sutherland and party will visit the various mission points on the coast in the "Glad Tidings" and will probably return to Victoria on the same vessel. The Boscowitz's freight and passenger list was rather lighter than usual.

J. C. McLAGAN, Manager.

Two torpedo boats of the British evolutionary squadron are ashore on the coast of Scotland.

It is expected that Parliament will be prorogued on the 7th of August.

Sir David Macpherson's resignation as Minister of the Interior is said to have been received by mail from England.

The French government has ordered General De Courcy to punish severely the Annamite officers connected with the recent riots.

The Marquis of Salisbury, in sympathy with the depression in the farming industry, has reduced his tenants' rent ten per cent for three years.

It is in contemplation to establish cable communication between Auckland and Fiji. The proposal is being warmly supported by the mercantile interests in Auckland.

Three or four of the Conservative members of the Senate objected to the Franchise Bill and voted against it on the ground that it was an invasion of the rights of the provinces, which should fix their own franchises.

Halfpenny dinners can be obtained in London, consisting of a rich stew made of the best quality of potatoes, carrots, onions, oatmeal and meat, and a second course of bread and jam.

It is definitely announced from Winnipeg that work will be at once commenced on the extension of the southwestern branch. The work will be let in small contracts to ensure hasty completion. Several miles of this road, from Manitou to Oak Lake, are to be finished in time to move this season's crop.

The medal commemorative of the 8th anniversary of the promotion of Leo XIII. to the Pontificate has been struck, and contains on its face the portrait of the venerable prelate, and bears the following: Leo XIII. Pont. Max. An. VIII. On the reverse side are the following words: Historia Fugientium Testis, Temporum Veritatis Lucem, Adfert Eruditæ Posteritati, Mendacio, Profligato, Rejecto.

The banquet to Hon. Mr. Blake in the Commons Restaurant on the evening of the 14th, was a great success. Sir Richard Cartwright presided in the absence of Mr. Mackenzie and made a spirited speech, reviewing the events of the session and showing the great debating power developed among the opposition members. In response to the toast of his health, Mr. Blake made a feeling speech, thanking his friends for the noble sacrifices they had made in resisting the oppressive measures during the past session. Every Liberal member and Senator in Ottawa was present.

A few days since the Devonshire Club, in London, entertained the Agents-General of the various Colonies, Lord Derby being in the chair. The Agent-General for Canada talked as if Lord Derby's chief object in the Colonial Office had been to study and please the statesmen of Canada; but Mr. Murray Smith, the Agent-General of Victoria, gave a less effusively couleur-de-rose view of his relations with the Colonial Office, and even said frankly that though nothing was at present less desired in Australia than separation, the possibility of separation was always in the minds of Colonial statesmen as an eventuality which it was impossible wholly to ignore. On the whole, however, the little brushes between the Colonial Office and the various Colonies were kept in the background and mutual compliment was the order of the day. Lord Derby evidently doubted gravely, as all our statesmen doubt, of the possibility of any real Federation, nor was his view traversed by any of the Agents-General. In reply to the toast of his own health, Lord Derby said that the outgoing government had driven the coach fairly into the inn-yard, and that they did not greatly fear what might happen to the coach till the next change of horses should take place.

FREE TRADE IN BRITAIN.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech at the Cobden Club dealt with some of the current topics, but contained also a very able demonstration that our free trade system has saved us from the complete and disastrous collapse from which the United States, under a strict protective tariff, have suffered. While in this country the number of bankruptcies has decreased, in the United States they have reached a number and value never before known. In 1884, for instance, the American bankruptcies were 12 per cent more in number, and 37 per cent more in value, than in 1883. There has been at the same time a general and extraordinary fall in wages. In the twenty-two Northern States the average reduction of wages had been from 20 to 25 per cent, while the average reduction in the number employed had varied from 12 to 33 per cent. Again, English boots and shoes were driving American and French goods of the same kind out of all the neutral markets of the world. The United States have an immense natural advantage for the manufacture of clocks; but, as a consequence of their protective tariff, it has happened that there is almost as large an exportation of British clocks to the United States as there is of American clocks to Great Britain, while in other markets the British clocks are superseding the American. Again, take the exports of woollen goods. The exports of woollen goods to this country from the United States, which had only reached the poor value of £72,000 in 1879, had fallen to £28,000 in 1884. In the same period the export of woollen goods from this country to the United States had doubled, and had reached the very high value of £3,500,000. Now, in every respect the Americans are our equals for manufacturing purposes except as regards their tariff. Hence may be inferred how vastly superior is a free-trade system to a protective system. If figures of this kind do not dispel the fair-trade illusion, that illusion is not to be dispelled by argument, but is a genuine superstition.

HUNGARIANS FOR THE NORTHWEST.

Count Esterhazy, who proposes to settle 20,000 Hungarians in the Canadian Pacific belt in the Northwest, has had an interview with the Dominion government regarding the scheme. The ministers expressed themselves satisfied with the terms of settlement proposed by the Count, and promised to arrange the matter as speedily as possible. The Count is an Hungarian nobleman, banished for participation in the revolution of 1848. Many Hungarians were exiled at the same time and settled in Pennsylvania, where they worked in coal and iron mines. From time to time others of their countrymen joined them here, until they have reached the number stated. Of late their lot has been embittered by innumerable conflicts with workmen of other countries; and a large majority of them, having been engaged in agricultural pursuits previous to their exile, have determined to return to agriculture. The situation selected is a tract of 200,000 acres in the Qu'Appelle district, and is situated within the Canadian Pacific railway's belt. Count Esterhazy proposed to the government that an equivalent in government land elsewhere be given to the Canadian Pacific railway for the desired tract. They will pay their own way to the nearest point of the Canadian Pacific, which will transport them free.

STILL SHE ADVANCES.

If any reliance can be placed in the cable despatches sent to the press of America from Europe it is very evident that Russia is still at her old trick—making an advance into the territory in dispute in Afghanistan while the negotiations are still in progress. Lord Salisbury and Lord Randolph Churchill, Mr. Gladstone's most severe and, indeed, most merciless critics, will be placed in almost the same position as the man whom they condemned so freely and so loudly decried, and it will be seen whether they will be able to deal more successfully with the Russians than he did. When Mr. Gladstone was driven from power there was every prospect of an arrangement honorable to both England and Russia being speedily concluded. With that arrangement Lord Salisbury himself, when he assumed the responsibilities of office, did not venture to find fault. The best that he could do was to carry out the negotiations on the lines on which they had been commenced. But the advance on Zulficar Pass will have disarranged everything again, and Lord Salisbury will have the opportunity of applying the remedy to the case which he condemned Mr. Gladstone so bitterly for not using. It will be seen whether the Jingos when in power are as fierce and as sanguinary as they were when they were in opposition.

Tam o' Burns was born and brought up among the "honest men and bonnie lasses" of Ayrshire is well known: but perhaps it is not so generally known that the poet's ancestors, on the father's side, belonged to Kincardinshire, in the north. The unveiling of the restored tombstones of the ancestors of Burns took place recently in the kirkyard of Glenbervie, Kincardinshire. The monuments which have been restored are those of the poet's great grandparents, and of his great granduncle. Round the pedestal of the new monument to the grandparents the following inscription has been placed: "James Burns, tenant, in Brawlinmuir, died January 23, 1743. Margret Falconer, his wife, died December 18, 1749. This tomb of the great grandparents of the poet Burns restored by subscription, 1885."

DAINTY HOUSEKEEPING

Some Examples of Cozy Homes in Small Quarters in New York.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, April 30.—Housekeeping in rooms does not promise much comfort to persons who live in half grown or overgrown towns. They picture it as they have too frequently seen it—a crowded, inconvenient, antidy, illy-ventilated existence, a cramped compromise between raw poverty and the borderland of respectability. All that and worse it often is, when attempted where there are neither material conveniences nor managerial skill to keep it from falling into unsightliness. But in New York one finds it perfected into an art, and by no means a low phase of art, either.

Here the whole tendency is to compactness and daintiness. It needs the hand of an artist to bring the crude complications of housekeeping down to a miniature compass and still keep the gloss of neatness and attractiveness thereon. The old saw says that anybody can work with plenty of tools, but only the expert workman can produce something excellent with few tools. On the same grounds it might be said that anybody can keep house nicely who has plenty of room to operate in, but only a genius can keep house beautifully in small quarters. Here such geniuses are found. The crowded condition of the city develops them.

It is wonderful what results in the way of cozy homes can be obtained in the most unpromising quarters and with the most inexpensive adjuncts when a tasteful and skillful hand directs matters. Housekeeping as well as everything else can be simplified, refined and beautified. The disagreeable features of it, the fuss and flurry and clatter which were once considered a necessary part of it by many of the rush-and-hurry order of housekeepers, have been thoroughly eliminated by the needs of this big city, where space is more valuable than anything else.

I sometimes wonder what one of the old-fashioned housekeepers, who went through the day at a breakneck pace and thought incessant work her greatest glory, would think if she could enter some little gem of a New York flat, no bigger than an old-time kitchen would be if divided into compartments, and see how smoothly roll the wheels of the menage. She wouldn't approve of it, of course, because there is no fuss and hurrah about it—none of the signs of hard work, which she worshiped, and sacrificed her time to, and made everybody around her uncomfortable about. No, there is none of that in the perfected system of housekeeping as we see it here, where comfort, beauty and coziness join hands to make three or four rooms into a home.

I have a friend whose little home of three rooms is more exquisite in its atmosphere of refined comfort than any elegant mansion I ever entered. She "does her own work," for that is one of the beauties and pleasures of the condensed system of housekeeping—no servant to bring disorder into the little bower of home under pretense of "doing the work." The "work" in this case isn't difficult, because, although she and her big son, who occupy all three rooms, have every comfort they need, her ability to plan unerringly and execute skillfully and speedily is so great, and the conveniences for such a style of living so numerous here, that the actual labor is only enough to interest her. Being a person of fine education, much culture and extraordinary taste, when riches took unto themselves wings and flew away, she knew how to rob Poverty of his external hideousness. Only an artist could so effectively reconcile these two mortal enemies, Beauty and Poverty, and get good service from both.

"How does she manage to get much out of little?" some one asks. By being painstaking; by bringing to the work of home-making as much interest, thought and ability as she would bring to the work of writing a poem, painting a picture or rendering the leading role in opera, had she been born a writer, painter or singer. She takes pride in her work, and the results justify it. Some women are ashamed of doing housework in their own homes. If they cook a meal, or try to, they feel degraded and injured most likely, and wind up by getting irritable and insult somebody while they are eating it. The truth is, efficiency in any useful direction should cultivate self-respect, and is bound to command the respect of others; and when a woman brings intellectual ability to the work of housekeeping, instead of the work degrading her she refines it.

But I must tell you how my friend's home of three rooms is arranged. It is the entire top floor of a house, not a flat. The largest room is the sitting room and her own bedchamber, the inevitable and somewhat ornamental upright folding bed doing heroic duty as a mediator between comfort and "looks' sake." The floor is carpeted with fresh and pretty colored matting, with a bright rug in the middle. There are soft, cream-colored curtains, inexpensive but most tastefully banded and looped with warm-tinted satin and ribbons. There are odd bits of furniture that fit well in odd places, a few easy chairs, and a good broad, comfortable lounge. There is a small East-lake bookcase full of books; there are a few, a very few, good pictures, and a small number of ornaments. The entire furnishings of the room would sell for a song, as the saying is, but everything is so immaculately clean, and arranged by such a daft and tasteful hand, that the effect is that of perfect harmony, sweetness and cheerfulness. The walls are papered with pale yellow and cream colors, which light up day or night, and add to the summery atmosphere which is a part of that room winter or summer.

The second large room is divided into two compartments by means of the useful and picturesque portiere. One-half is the son's bedroom, which is as dainty as a doll's house; the other is converted into a kitchen, which might be mistaken for a mimic cook-room, so tiny and orderly are all its belongings. Its mistress has an eye to ventilation, as well as to other things. The cooking is all done on a gas stove handsome enough to adorn a parlor, and loud smells of fries and broils are unknown there.

The third room—a narrow hall room, which some housekeepers would scarcely know what to do with—is converted into a dining room, so wonderfully attractive that one never sits down in it without marveling that human ingenuity could bring such a picture of comfort and beauty out of such meagre materials. And the meals that are spread there, though always simple, are exquisite, combining the perfection of cooking with the daintiest serving. And it is all done without any appearance of fuss or worry. The big son has been taught how to help in various ways, and this little home, kept up on a minimum of money and a maximum of skill, is an example of the fact that a home rests not upon a solid monetary foundation alone.

To be sure, no coarse work like washing is done there, nor would there be any economy in having it done there. In no place, urban or suburban, is washing done better or cheaper than here. The competition in that line of labor is great.

Somebody once said of this lady: "If there is any poetry in housekeeping Mrs. C. will find it." What a pity others do not find it also. Yet she is not an isolated exception here. I know many women equally artistic in keeping house in small quarters. I recall one who has a charming little flat of five rooms, and does the work for a household of three—herself, husband and son. The flat has every convenience necessary to make labor easy. Her kitchen is carpeted and is as sweet and orderly as a flower garden, and she is happy in the management of her little kingdom. She said to me laughingly one day:

"How we do learn wisdom from experience! Once I thought that to live in rooms and do one's own cooking was about the foriornest fate that could overtake one; and when the cooking was done on a coal oil stove I thought the depth of domestic wretchedness had been reached. Now I am doing that very thing. I cook on a coal oil stove in summer, and find it a pleasure too, and never in the days of our financial prosperity was I as happy as I am now. Something useful to do that one can improve upon all the time is splendid medicine for sick souls. I have so perfected my system of housekeeping—have learned how to economize and have the best at the same time—that I sometimes feel tempted to write a book about it. There is so much pleasure to be got out of it that I would like to enlighten other women who fancy that housekeeping under any circumstances must be drudgery."

I know another woman, well-known in the world of letters, who is also an artist in housework. Her little flat is conducted so smoothly that one never notices when the work is done. Yet she is her own servant. She entertains company, too, and you think when at her table, which is always as attractive as a "dream of fair women," that housework has no mean phases, because none are visible there. She does a great deal of literary work, as well as her own housekeeping. In New York there are but two meals a day to serve, breakfast and 6 o'clock dinner. The best part of the day lies between them.

Many actresses consider themselves favored by the gods when they return from a winter's travel and can rent a couple of furnished rooms and do "light housekeeping" till they start out "on the road" again. It is the nearest approach to a home and real domesticity that they can have in their unsettled life, and they are grateful for it, considering it a luxury far above any phase of hotel life. Weary of contact with people and sick of indifferent cooking, they find rest and change in setting up these miniature establishments and operating them themselves. The richer ones rent and furnish flats, which they shut up when they leave for short absences and thoroughly enjoy when they return to the city. Indeed, some of them have very strong domestic leanings; and if they could not devise some way of shutting themselves away from others for a time the attrition of life would become unbearable.

Nowhere in the world is there so much longing for homes as in New York. The boarding houses reek with homeless women, who talk and plan together, day after day, about "taking flats," or houses, or something in the shape of a home, and, alas! too often fail to even get within sight of the land of their dreams. Rent, furniture, coal, gas, all these grim lions stand in the way and are to be conciliated out of slender pocketbooks.

Some grow old talking about it without ever getting a foot nearer the realization of it. They live in all sorts of cramped rooms, mixing with great herds of boarders, with a patience that might well be said to be sublime. They are buoyed up by the hope that some day they will have a little flat of their own, which will be literally their castle.

GERTRUDE GARRISON.

"Tone" of Washington Society.

[Exchange.]

It is said that a writer in Washington makes a person dissatisfied with the society of every other city in the country, since in them the clubs are in possession of young insurance agents, stock-brokers and business men. As The Atlanta Constitution puts it: "Old men are rated stupid; literary and intellectual men are put down as nuisances. In general society it is worse. Men and women over 30 are left in the corners. The young fashion dudes and the bud ling debutantes run everything. But in Washington the literary people, state men, travelers, and scientists are stir enough to give tone to society. You meet them everywhere. It is refreshing to find one city in the land where men of brain and position can not be driven to the wall by long-legged dudes and young girls just from the dancing schools."

Ahead Yet.

[Judy.]

Boy—Please, sir, Tommy Johnson has made me make a blot.

School Board Teacher—Then Tommy Johnson won't go home to his dinner to-day.

Tommy said afterward, when the teacher had gone away: "I 'spose yer think yer done a fine thing by roundin' on me, but, as it happens, I ain't got no dinner to go home to. Yah, yer sneak!"

Miss Mary Anderson, the favorite actress, keeps a diary. She daily records her impressions of English society, and the men and women she meets.

A LIVELY DISCUSSION.

Brother Gardner Says a Gill of Argument Is Worth a Bushel of Abuse.

[Lime-Kiln Club.]

"Am Stepoff Johnsing in de hall dis evenin'?" asked the president, as he rose up and winked at Samuel Shin to stir up the fire and roast Elder Toots out from behind the stove.

"Yes, sah!" replied a high-pitched voice from one of the back corners.

"You will please step to de front."

Brother Johnsing has always bragged about the length of his heels, and he now appeared to think that the hour had come when he was to receive a prize chrom. His face wore a broad grin, and just at that moment he would have lent Brother Backslide Davis 20 cents without the least security.

"Stepoff Johnsing," said Brother Gardner in his deep toned voice, "I war in a feed stob de odder night to see about gittin' two bits wuth of meal fur my hens, when you walked in an' wanted to git trusted fur a bale of hay fur your mule."

"An' he trusted me, sah."

"'Zactly, an' it pleases me to see it. In a few minits de ole man Cummins limped in. De two of you talked about de general wickedness of mankind fur a few minits an' den a dispute arose as to de age of de world."

"Yes, sah. De ole man Cummins doan know nuffin, sah."

"You called him a liar."

"But he called me a fool."

"You called him a bigot."

"An' he called me a humbug."

"'Zactly—'zactly—I heered it all. Brudder Johnsing, an' now I want to ax you what you know about de sige of de world?"

"I—I—knows as much as de ole man Cummins."

"How old am de airth?"

"I dunno, sah."

"Oh, you don't? You an' Cummins call names an' almost fight ober what neither of you kin cum widin a millyun miles of knowin'; Dat's mankind, 'xactly. We kin be bluffed on what we do know, but we won't back water fur any libin' man on what we doan' know. When we git a theory we fight fur it sooner dan fur solemn facks. If we can't convince de odder party by blab we am ready to do it by sluggin'. Brudder Johnsing, it will be well fur you to disreckolect a few facks. A gill of argyment am worth a bushel o' abuse. It takes a man of strong common sense to admit his faults an' errors. You may believe wid all yer might an' still be in de wrong. Find a man who prides himself on stickin' to his opinyuns, an' you has found a dangerous member of de community. You may now sot down, an' we will attack de reglar programme."

The Doctor's Candor.

[St. Paul Herald.]

"What a candid man Doc. is," said that mischievous young Pointedtoes as he slid into the best seat in Dr. Wiggleton's office.

"You know if a person dies of a malignant disease, the physician has to report it to the health authorities, filling up a long blank with name of disease, cause of death, etc."

"Yes," said the clerk.

"Well, Doc. has a case which everybody thought was clearly scarlet fever, but it wasn't."

"What was it, then?"

"The report read 'Cause of Death—August Wiggleton, M. D.'"

"Uh, well, you know that was only a mistake. I got the signature on the wrong line," said the M. D.

"So I suggested to Dr. Hoyt, but he guessed not. There were lots of cases, but physicians had seldom your charming candor."

Spontaneous Combustion.

[Chicago Times.]

Dickens has been much criticised for his apparent acceptance of the fact of spontaneous combustion, but Sir William Gull lately testified to a surprising case before the committee of the house of lords on intemperance. A large, bloated man, who was suffering from difficulty of breathing and distention of the various system, died at Guy's hospital. At the post mortem of the following day there was no sign of decomposition, and the body was believed to be distended with gas. When punctures were made into the skin, "said Sir William, "and a lighted match applied, the gas which escaped burned with the ordinary flame of carburetted hydrogen. As many as a dozen of these small flames were burning at the same time."

The Man with a Hose.

[Chicago Current.]

An ignorant, stupid man with a hose in his hand is the pest of a city. Besides flooding the sidewalks and making a mudhole of the nice, dry gutters, he makes the stone pavements sink by undermining them, he washes the mortar out of the stone steps, and is an equivalent to six months of perpetual rainstorm. The artificial storm added to the six months of winter makes the rock and brick of most cities have a hard time of it. The rainfall of the United States is about thirty inches a year; in the zone of the hired man it is not less than thirty feet. Under his care the pyramids of Egypt would last only a few summer times.

Will Make the Bull-Dog Do.

[Cincinnati Journal.]

An eighty ton gun costs 10,075 pounds sterling. That settles it. If they won't knock off the odd 75 pounds sterling on a purchase like that we are going to worry along this summer with the old bull dog revolver, that's all. Still we would have liked to try the effect of a dose of eighty-ton gun on the 1885 crop of spring poets. Thus are the editorial yearnings always left unsatisfied by the cold limitations of unrelenting poverty.

Fruit in Prepared Papers.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Southern fruit can now be allowed to ripen on the tree when intended for northern markets. A prepared paper for keeping ripe fruit from decay has been invented. Large sheets of soft tissue paper are dipped into a strong alcoholic solution of salicylic acid, diluted with as much water as it will bear without precipitation. The paper is then dried, when it is ready for use.

A Chandler-Hale Coincidence.

[Boston Traveler.]

The wife of Mr. Chandler, the ex-secretary of the navy, was the daughter of a former senator Hale, while the wife of the senator Hale of the present day is the daughter of a former Secretary Chandler. No relationship exists between the families. One has a son named Hale Chandler and the other a son named Chandler Hale.

Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been now in my grave.

Poverty and Suffering.

I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring.

I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. AT ST. PAUL

Travellers have a choice of routes. Passengers arrive in and depart from the Union Depot, thus avoiding the expense of transferring baggage. The several routes to Chicago Milwaukee and all points are

The famous Albert Lea Route.
The great Rock Island Line.
The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.
The Chicago and Northwestern.
The Royal Route.

The distance from St. Paul to Chicago is about 450 miles. The trip is made in 15 hours. Trains leave each city in the morning, mid-day and evening.

Certificate of Incorporation.

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, hereby certify that we desire to form, under the provisions of the "Companies Act, 1878," a Company, as hereinafter mentioned.

1. The corporate name of the Company shall be "The Victoria Times Printing and Publishing Company, Limited Liability."

2. The objects for which the company shall be formed are:

(a.) The printing and publishing of a daily and weekly newspaper;

(b.) The carrying on of a general printing and publishing business.

(c.) The renting, purchasing, and holding of such land and buildings as may be found necessary and convenient for the purposes of the Company.

(d.) The doing of all such things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects.

3. The capital stock of the company shall be $20,000, divided into 200 shares of $100 each.

4. The time of the existence of the Company shall be fifteen years.

5. The number of the Trustees shall be three, and their names are John Campbell McLagan, John Grant and William Templeman, all of the City of Victoria, who shall manage the affairs of the Company for the first three months.

6. The principal place of business of the Company shall be at Victoria.

7. A stockholder shall not be individually liable for the debts or liabilities of the company, but the liability of a stockholder shall be limited to his proportion (based upon the amount of his respective shares) to assessments levied, and the charges thereon if advertised as delinquent, during the time that he is a stockholder, upon a share or shares of which he is the holder, as shown by the stockholders' register book of the Company; assessments and charges thereon when taken collectively shall not exceed in the aggregate, the value in dollars printed or shown upon such share when issued.

Dated at Victoria, this thirtieth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.

COALHARBOR EXTENSION

The Location of the Line to be Proceeded with at Once.

THE TIMES is instructed to announce that MR. J. H. CAMBIE, C.E., has been appointed to superintend the location and construction of the C. P. R. extension to Coal Harbor and English Bay. The work will be proceeded with at once.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Fifty Chinamen and twenty-five steerage passengers arrived to-day by the Queen.

—The Queen of the Pacific arrived at noon, having been detained some hours by head winds. She brought 741 tons of freight, 342 tons being for Victoria.

—Mr. Alex. McDonald will give a grand opening at the Windsor Hotel, late Boomerang, to-morrow evening, when the world and his wife are invited.

—Tenders are called for by the Surveyor-General for the construction of a bridge over Bilson Creek, on the Metchosin road.

—Mr. James Sherard, a respected citizen of Dungeness, was burned out on Tuesday, his family losing all their personal effects.

—The Olympian's consignees to-day are: M W Willis, Marvin & Tilton, H Saunders, J H Place, R Baker & Son, Langley & Co, S T Brewster & Co, J Wilson, John Parker.

—The Fraser river, at Yale, is said to be unusually low for this season of the year. The reason assigned is that the river ever since March has continued at a good fair medium stage.

—C. D. Rand has resumed business and has taken an office on Bastion street over Dr. Chipp's where he will carry on business as a real estate broker and insurance agent.

—The Madison Square Theatre Company, consisting of fifteen members, arrived by the Queen to-day and are stopping at the Driard. They open on Monday night.

—A cricket match will be played at Beacon Hill to-morrow afternoon between representative elevens from the Victoria Cricket Club and Christ Church Institute. Game will be called at 1.30.

—Flags were hoisted over the new theater yesterday for the first time. They were scarcely flung to the breeze before they were lowered to half-mast, out of respect to the death of General Grant.

List of letters detained for postage, on the 24th July: Jno. Goode, Norfolk, Va.; Joseph Jorgenson, Walla Walla; Wing Lung, New Westminster; Sing Wah, Portland; A. Anfibalo, San Francisco; W. Peeford, Parsons' Bridge; Wm. Lindsay, Wellington.

—Captain Bowden, of the schooner Perry, says the Laconner Mail, has taken from the Flats to Victoria, Saanich, and other points in British Columbia, during the season, between seven and eight thousand sacks of last year's oats, which generally found ready sale at from $18 to $20 per ton.

Pack trains still continue to arrive and load merchandize at Yale for the upper country. This is a severe commentary on the manner in which the railroad business is being carried on by Mr. Onderdonk, and perhaps the only instance in the broad world where the most primitive method of transporting merchandise is competing successfully against a modern railroad.

The Queen's Consignees.

Freight for the following arrived by the Queen of the Pacific: A Ofner, A Bossi & Co, Albion Iron Works, A & W Wilson, A B Gray & Co, A B Francis, Brewster & Co, Burns and Co, B C, D W Higgins, D E Campbell, Dominion Agent, Carne & Munsie, Chas Gowen, C Strauss & Co, E B Marvin, E G Prior, Fell & Co, Felix Block, Geo Vienna, Geo Morrison, Geo Rudge, Going & Blackwood, H Peters, H Bornstein, H F Sieverd, Harrison & McAllister, J Weiler, J Stewart, J Sehl, J Sommers, J J Moore, J F Pratt, J B Ferguson, J Isaacs & Co, King Tye Co, Kwong Chung, Kurtz & Co, Hirschberg & Lansberg, Langley & Co, L A Agassez, Mathews, Richards & Tye, Marvin & Tilton, M W Waitt & Co, Mann & Heron, M Miller, M Lentz, McLennan & McFeeley, Neufelder & Ross, P McQuade & Son, Pendray & Co, J B Belond, R Baker & Son, R Maynard, Russell & Co, R Lettice, S J Pitts, S Leiser, S Baker & Co, Smith & Clark, S L Kelly & Son, Thos Earle, Tai Sang, Theodore Davie, T W Fletcher, T N Hibben & Co, W H Bennett, W Heathorn, Welch, Rithet & Co, W G Cameron, Wah Hing, W J Pendray & Co, Wm Tietjen, Wells, Fargo & Company, E McPhetridge, Yee Wo, North Pacific Express Co, A Onderdonk; New Westminster, Douglas & Deighton, D Chisholm, J Cunningham, Reisterer Bros., William Meegan & Co; Eagle Pass, Campbell & Lellan; Kamloops, C P Miller & Co; Ladner's Landing, John McKee; Yale, E McPhetridge; Nanaimo, Pioneer Society.

In Mourning for the Illustrious Dead.

The U. S. Consulate is in mourning today for the United States' most distinguished General. A recent writer of note places him first in a brief list of the illustrious soldiers of Europe who have won their fame during the past half century. Over the main door of entrance to the Consulate, under the insignia, is displayed a rich banneret of black satin, on which is embossed in silk, in admirable life colors the American eagle, with the legend "E pluribus unum;" and a portion of the escutcheon of the U. S., (probably the work of some of Victoria's fair ones.) The banneret has a deep border of black crape; the whole being remarkably tasteful and effective. The flag droops at half mast; its lower folds confined by a large rosette of crape with pendent bands. Below this an admirable etching of General Grant is attached. As we go to press our American citizens, in compliance with the invitation of the Consul, are assembling at the Consulate, to make measures in evincement of their respect for the memory of Grant.

Natural Causes.

The inquest held yesterday afternoon on the body of the man John Donnelly, who died in the morning somewhat suddenly, at the Boomerang, resulted in a verdict of death from natural causes. Dr. G. A. Dearden testified as to the condition in which he had found deceased when called in and said there was nothing to indicate foul play. The evidence of other witnesses went to show that there was no ground for suspicion of unnatural causes and the finding was made accordingly.

Election of Officers—Public Meeting in the Methodist Church.

THURSDAY, July 23rd, 1885.

The following were the officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs Spofford; Vice-President, Mrs Sargison; Recording Secretary, Mrs G Grant; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs Jenkins; Treasurer, Mrs Etheridge.

The following superintendents were appointed: Literature, Mrs Cunningham. Scientific Instruction, Miss White. Juvenile Society, Miss Brown. Railroad Work, Mrs Seccombe. Legislation, Mrs Watson. Hygiene, Mrs Dr McSwain. Unfermented Wines at communion service, Mrs Wells. Press, Miss Lazenby.

This terminated the afternoon session.

EVENING MEETING.

The closing exercises of the highly successful temperance convention took place in the Methodist church Thursday evening.

The chair was occupied by Mrs. Spofford, the newly elected President.

The meeting was opened with reading of the Scriptures by the President and prayer by Rev. Dr. Sutherland.

Rev. C. Watson, of New Westminster, was the first speaker. Intemperance, he said, was a great evil, and to successfully combat it, it was necessary not only to agitate but also to expose its iniquities. Daniel Webster had said that his greatest thought was that of his personal responsibility to God. The temperance people must thoroughly feel their personal responsibility in order to successfully grapple with the evil which confronts them. It was proved that in Canada, United States and Great Britain 228,000 persons were annually going down to drunkards' graves. When the tendency of a business was naturally and habitually to do evil it was quite proper to seek to repress it, and it had been proved that the statistics of the liquor traffic were interchangeable with those of crime. The traffic might be legitimate in a legal sense, but a law may not necessarily be right or expedient. A certain judge held that as slavery dealt with human beings a dealer should hold a bill of sale from God himself before he could legally hold what he claimed as his slaves, so as the liquor traffic referred also to human beings, the liquor dealer should hold a license from God before his business could be legitimate. It was a disgrace to the citizens to see the police arrest drunken men when they were allowed to purchase the liquor, for as the tendency of narcotics was to lower the nervous system and cause an increased demand, so the demand by the system for liquors tended towards perpetual increase.

Hon. John Robson expressed his pleasure in meeting on the temperance platform such men as Rev. Dr. Sutherland and Mr. Moore, of Toronto. The time was approaching when temperance will be as much interwoven with politics as temperance was with religion. Energy and agitation were necessary in combatting the great liquor traffic. The drink bill of England amounts to as much as that spent to maintain all the standing armies of Europe. All had been delighted at the alacrity with which the Canadian boys had rushed to arms to crush the recent rebellion and the skill and bravery manifested by them. It was a glorious sight. It might be said that all were patriotic, but could all be true patriots and not manfully face this great mortal enemy drink? True patriotism demanded that all should face the foe and manfully battle with it. Prince Leopold had said that rum was the only enemy of which Great Britain need be afraid and it was certainly an enemy much to be dreaded. He believed that the extension of the ballot to women would have a salutary effect in checking the evil. At the school trustee election about 1200 votes were cast and about one third of those were women, and these had been cast in such a manner as to frown down both the liquor interests and infidelity.

On motion of Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs Cunningham a vote of thanks was tendered to the lecturers of both evenings and to the organist and choir for services rendered, and the convention then closed.

GRANITE CREEK.

A Very Rich Find Near Princeton. Similkameen.

Mr. J. F. Allison of Similkameen, arrived in the city yesterday, and is stopping at the Oriental. Mr. Allison is an extensive stock raiser and, trader, at Princeton, and also gold commissioner for the district. To a TIMES reporter, who had got a hint that had been made in the Similkameen country during the past few days, Mr. Allison said that he was not a "boomer" and did not care to be the means of spreading sensational reports, which did great and lasting injury, to our mining industry. "But," said he, a new creek was struck two or three days ago, about which there is great excitement. Fifteen or 20 claims had been recorded by white miners, and most of them were taking out from eight to ten dollars per day, and then they only skinned the surface. The creek is a tributary of the Tulameen, otherwise known as the North branch of the Similkameen, and has been named by the discoverers "Granite Creek." It is about twelve miles above Princeton, and is large enough for two hundred and twenty claims. It is now being staked off by who threaten to exclude Chinamen altogether from, what they have reason to believe is the richest diggings ever discovered in the Similkameen country. Hundreds of Chinamen are making good pay on the Similkameen and other streams, and numbers of them, having accumulated respectable fortunes are yearly leaving for their homes in the celestial kingdom, and are at once replaced by more needy countrymen; and thus the operation continues. The wealth of British Columbia is carried in yellow metal to China and never comes back again. The Similkameen country, Mr. A. believes, is marvelously rich in gold and silver, and the rush to Granite Creek, to which miners are now flocking from the south, is but a ripple to the

that will sweep all over the eastern slope of the Cascades when its hidden treasures are uncovered. Stock-raising was never in a more prosperous condition in the valley, the crop of bunch-grass having been a most bountiful one.

Theater Comique.

This new and popular place of resort drew a good audience last night, and everyone was pleased with the entertainment. Several new features were introduced, the acrobatic feats of Mr. Lamont being greatly admired. Prof. Young Dutchey, middle-weight champion of the coast, will appear next week and give some wonderful feats of strength. Admission 25 cents.

Leg Amputated.

Some three weeks ago a young man named James Hudson was brought down from Salt Spring island and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering terribly from a swelled leg, resulting from an injury to the knee. Since that time he has been progressing favorably, and yesterday Drs. Davie and Helmcken amputated the diseased member above the knee. The patient is now progressing favorably.

BARTHOLDI'S BIG GIRL.

The Prejudices Met by a Canvasser for the Pedestal Fund.

The Bartholdi pedestal fund is nearly complete. The statue has arrived and soon New York harbor will be graced by the most magnificent colossal statue the world has ever seen.

"Liberty Enlightening the World!" What a priceless blessing personal liberty is. It is the shrine at which people, ground under the heel of tyranny in the other worlds, worship with a fervency that Americans can scarcely realize; it is a principle for which Nihilists willingly die the death of dogs; and fit and proper it is that at the very entrance of the Bay of New York this emblematic statue should flash a welcome to the world.

The press is entitled to the credit of this achievement. Mr. Philip Beers, who has been making a circuit of the country on behalf of the pedestal fund, says that the fund will certainly be raised, as the World does not know the word fail.

Mr. Beers says that he has found the most pronounced generosity among those of foreign birth. They seem more appreciative of liberty than do our native born. Moreover, among some a strange prejudice seems to exist.

"Prejudice? In what particular?"

"I have ever found that however meritorious a thing may be, thousands of people will inevitably be prejudiced against it. I have spent most of my life on the road and I know the American people like a book. In 1879 a personal misfortune illustrated this prevailing prejudice. I was very ill, had suffered for several years with headache, fickle appetite, dreadful backache, cramps, hot head, cold hands and feet, and a general break down of the system. I dragged myself back to New York, seeking the best professional treatment. It so happens that among my relatives is a distinguished physician who upbraided me roundly for preaching so much about my own case. Finally, with some spirit, I remarked to him:

"Sir, you know that much of your professional wisdom is pretense. You are controlled by prejudice. You cannot reach a case like mine and you know it, can you?"

"I had him; and he finally conceded the point, for it was brigh't disease of the kidneys which had prostrated me, and the schoolmen admit they cannot cure it. Having cured myself, however, in 1879, and not having seen a sick day since, my relative finally admitted that Warner's safe cure, which accomplished this result, was really a wonderful preparation. Had President Rutter, of the Central Hudson used it, I am certain he would be alive to-day, for he could not have been in a worse condition than I was."

"I have found similar prejudices among all classes concerning even so laudable a scheme as this pedestal fund."

Mr. Beer's experience and the recent death of President Rutter, of the Central Hudson railroad, of an extreme kidney disorder, proves that the physicians have no real power over such diseases, and indicates the only course one should pursue if, as the late Dr. Willard Parker says, headache, sickness of the stomach, dropsical swellings, back ache, dark and offensive fluids, prematurely impaired eyesight, loss of strength and energy occur, for they unmistakably indicate a fatal result, if not promptly arrested.

"Yes, sir-ee, every cent needed for the pedestal will be raised. Of course, it will be a great triumph for the World, but would it not have been an eternal disgrace had our people failed to provide for this pedestal?"

SUPREME COURT.

In the Supreme Court yesterday, Mr. T. Davie, on behalf of Geo. Murdock, moved for a rule calling upon Mr. C. Todd to show cause why a conviction, under the Public Works Act, for having in possession spirituous liquors intended for sale in the railway belt, should not be brought up on a writ of certiorari and quashed. Rule nisi made returnable on the 29th inst.

FAN VS. FAN.

Judgment of the Chief Justice Reversed by the Full Court.

Present—Mr. Justice Crease, Mr. Justice Gray, Mr. Justice McCreight, and Mr. Justice Walkem.

FAN VS. FAN.—It will be recollected that the special jury which sat in this case last month, were unable to come to a verdict as to whether the plaintiff and defendant were partners or not. The Chief Justice, who presided at the trial, thereupon discharged the jury, and afterwards, on a motion made on behalf of the plaintiff, gave a judgment for him, declaring that the alleged partnership existed and giving some necessary directions for the management of the partnership estate by Mr. Provost, who was appointed receiver. The Full Court to-day set aside the judgment of the Chief Justice in so far as it dispensed with the finding of a jury as to partnership, and decided that as an order had been made that the question of partnership should be tried by a jury the order had to be completely carried out. A direction was therefor given that a trial of the question of partnership should be had before a jury at such time and place as might be fixed by the Chief Justice or any other judge of the court. The appellant was allowed his costs.

COUNTY COURT.

In the County Court to-day, before Mr. Justice Crease, Mr. Wilson, for Johnson & Co., of the Rock Bay tannery, obtained judgment for $185.33 against Mrs. Mary Gallick, wife of H. Gallick, late of the Queen boot and shoe store.

POLICE COURT.

John Dunn, for being drunk and disorderly was fined $5 or one week's imprisonment.

Kip Ling was charged with having unlawfully altered a wooden building on Store street.

Officer Lindsay testified that a new front had been placed in the building and a verandah built.

To Mr. Helmcken, who appeared for the defence Witness said he believed there was some old lumber used in the verandah but could not tell how much; could not tell the value of the improvements nor of the building.

To the Court—Witness said the new front was something similar to the old one, did not know about the verandah.

P. J. Leech, city surveyor, and inspector of buildings, testified that he had examined the building referred to and found that a new partition 28 feet long and 8 feet high had been built, and the verandah had been re-covered with new lumber and new lumber put on the front of the house. Two new doors and one or two new windows had been put in; could not say whether doors and windows had been in the same place before. The witness authorized the present action.

Mr. Helmcken asked for the dismissal of the case on the ground that the copy of the by-law put in was not certified to by the clerk.

Superintendent Bloomfield applied for an adjournment for one week in order to be allowed to get a correctly certified copy. This was granted.

The case against Mah Kee, adjourned from yesterday, was further remanded until Tuesday next, on account of illness of Mr. J. E. Vrooman, interpreter in the case.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

[While the columns of THE TIMES are open for the discussion of questions of public interest, to correspondents, it must be understood that it does not necessarily endorse, nor coincide with, the sentiments expressed by writers in this column.]

A Falsehood Nailed.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The statement made by a correspondent in this morning's Colonist that I had received a copy of the Statutes two months since is far from being correct as the following account will prove:

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA GAZETTE.

VICTORIA, 20th July, 1885.

MR. R. T. WILLIAMS

Memorandum of Charges

10 Copies Statutes, 1885, (unbound) $10.00

IN PAMPHLET FORM PAPER COVER (the small caps are my own).

These are the same copies that were bound and delivered on the afternoon of the 20th as notice in a former issue of your paper. No doubt I could have had unbound copies within a week or two after the adjournment of the House, had I so desired. None were in my possession for the following reason: I called upon the Hon. the Provincial Secretary in April last and offered to bind the Statutes and suggested that the work should be given out by tender, when I was informed by him that there were more than two parties who were willing to tender but tenders would not be received. The request made in the Colonist on the 21st inst., to give the work out by contract would be a difficult thing to do. At the present time, as what little work there is to be done of any value was given out months ago without throwing it open to competition.

The injustice of the whole transaction has been fully explained already through the press; and in conclusion, if the correspondent in this morning's paper will sign his name to any future incorrect statements he may make, I will furnish him with additional facts that will be of interest. Should he decline to give his name I shall refuse to reply to correspondence that may appear hereafter in relation to the statutes, as my time is fully occuped in matters of far more interest to me at present than correcting misstatements that may appear in the public newspapers over the signature of anonymous correspondents.

MEETING OF AMERICANS.

Resolutions of Condolence—The Day of the Funeral to be Observed.

A meeting of American citizens was held this afternoon at the United States Consulate, to consider the question of properly observing the occasion of the death and interment of the late General Grant. The following gentlemen were present: C W Brown, Montana; W H Doolittle, Colfax, W T; T F Dubois, Idaho; Willis Sweet, Moscow, I; J Thompson, Louisville, Ky; N Beauregrand, S F; P Eldaniller, Harlan, Iowa; George B Johnson, Minneapolis, F J Jones, C Lang, C Hardy, J A Bartcher, John Kurtz, M Lenz, S A Donovan, Dennis O'Keefe, William Dean, G W Dillon, James McQuarrie, R R Parkinson, T J Mattock, J W Dorr, A A Lowe, D T Ross, G W Haynes, E Pferdner, W P Sayward, J Heywood, F Campbell, E O Carren, M P Charles, G L Howe, T L Kempster, Dr A M Taylor, J W Bradley. Col. Stevens, U. S. Consul, occupied the chair, and Mr. Tilton acted as secretary. The chairman explained the object of the meeting. It was moved by Mr. Marvin, seconded by Mr. Kurtz, that a memorial service be held in Christ Church Cathedral on the day of the funeral. Carried.

Mr. Marvin read a communication from Bishop Paddock, consenting to officiate on the occasion, also from Bishop Hill, offering the use of Christ Church Cathedral.

On motion, a committee of four consisting of Messrs. Kurtz, Lubbe, Tilton and Col. Stevens, was appointed to prepare a resolution of condolence to be forwarded to Mrs. Grant.

A motion was submitted by Mr. Kurtz and carried, requesting that all business places be closed on the day of the funeral.

Mr. Bradley submitted the following dispatch, to be telegraphed to be Secretary of State: "Americans and others assembled at the Consulate in observance of the recent sad event, desire me to transmit to Mrs. Grant and family their fervent expressions of condolence."

A committee of five was appointed to take charge of the arrangements. The Consul named Messrs. Marvin, Ross, Kurtz and Parkhurst for that purpose.

It was also on motion, agreed that American citizens should proceed to the church in a body on the occasion of the memorial service. The meeting then adjourned.

The Alaskan Boundary.

The initial report of the first grand jury of Alaska to Judge Wade McAllister, of the United States District Court, submitted in the May term the following reference is made to the boundary question: "The Dominion Parliament has already taken the preliminary steps by which the boundary between Alaska and the British possessions can be ascertained and determined, and we especially urge the necessity for the United States Government to comply with the request made by the Dominion Parliament that a commission be appointed to settle the question. Valuable mineral lands are being prospected, and our miners at this time have no means of knowing whether said mines should be located under the United States mining laws or those of British Columbia.

Railways Creating New Cities.

The census of Duluth village and city is about completed. The village shows a population of nearly 12,000, and the city of over 4000; total 16,000; a gain since 1880 of 12,500, or nearly 380 per cent. Duluth is the Lake Superior terminus of the Northern Pacific railway, the head of navigation from the Atlantic, via the St. Lawrence and the great lakes. It is rapidly coming to the front as a vast grain and shipping center for the Northwestern States. It is about 200 miles from Port Arthur, likewise the head of navigation for the Canadian Pacific railway, and now the second shipping port in Ontario, Toronto being the first.
